

eMag Value Proposition

eMag Solutions works with leading law firms and top Corporate organizations to help promote information management and legal preparedness for various litigation, regulatory, and compliance matters.

eMag's Value - Added Relationships with Law Firms and Corporate Clients

eMag serves as the trusted partner for many leading law firms, offering a range of data management, processing, and electronic discovery solutions to enhance the value of a law firm's services to its corporate clients. eMag also works directly with corporations as a trusted extension of their IT and legal departments to address the overwhelming amounts of electronically stored information generated by these organizations. eMag provides both proactive and reactive solutions that ultimately help lower costs, reduce organizational risk, and avoid interruption of day-to-day business operations when legal matters arise.

eMag creates synergistic partnerships with both law firms and corporate clients to provide the maximum value-added services to ensure every client need is met and no stone is left unturned.

Law Firms

eMag Solutions works with law firms to help provide efficient, cost-effective E-Discovery services, allowing law firms to quickly identify relevant information and process only the smallest necessary subset.

eMag's pre-culling techniques and capabilities to provide a single unified platform for examining both live and legacy data lets attorneys spend more time focusing on the content, allowing the firm to make earlier strategic decisions about an individual case, to best serve its clients.

Corporations

eMag, working in conjunction with our law firm partners, serves as an outsourced extension of an organization's IT department, enabling corporate IT and law firms to quickly collect and cull massive pools of data from any media type, minimizing the disruption to corporate day-to-day business and avoiding the need to mobilize additional resources (personnel, equipment) to identify and process these overwhelming volumes of electronically stored information.

eMag Links Law Firms & Corporations

eMag serves as partner and trusted advisor to both law firms and corporations, providing the link between IT and legal to ensure that all necessary ESI is identified, collected, and properly culled down to the smallest responsive subset. eMag provides rapid, cost-effective services that maximize corporate ROI and enhances the value that law firms provide to their clients.
